The ING Collection in London is a fascinating combination of pictures and applied art . It includes works by modern British artists such as Stanley Spencer, LS Lowry, John Minton and Duncan Grant. There are also eighteenth- and nineteenth-century watercolours by artists such as Samuel Palmer and John Sell Cotman and a collection of historical portraits that illustrate the story of Baring Brothers, acquired by ING in 1995 together with the Baring Archive that dates back to 1762. Our visit will be guided by the Collection archivists.
